

Annual Report for 2024

I. Overall Context

The Local Government Planning Support Grants Program (AB 101) allocated a total of $18,975,323 in Regional Early Action Planning (REAP) grant funds to the eight-county San Joaquin Valley for housing planning and production assistance. Over the past four years, the eight regional planning agencies (or MPOs) have collaboratively worked together on subregional activities and funding distributions consistent with the REAP objectives. Fresno COG was named as the fiscal agent for the San Joaquin Valley REAP process.

Major work areas for the San Joaquin Valley REAP process cover several State of California Housing and Community Development required activities including identification of best practices, education and outreach strategies, suballocations to promote housing production, technical assistance and administration.

For the San Joaquin Valley, the fiscal and programmatic administration of the REAP program is divided into two major categories:

Suballocations to MPOs and Jurisdictions

Providing resources to MPOs and jurisdictions to improve RHNA methodologies and planning and accelerate housing production in a way that aligns with state planning priorities, housing, transportation, equity, and climate goals. $15,472,696 of the total $18,975,323 allocation was budgeted to the MPOs for planning efforts and suballocations to jurisdictions.

Valleywide REAP Program

A Valleywide REAP Program for the eight-county region was created to further the objectives of the REAP program. This effort included a comprehensive housing report, technical assistance, webinars and several additional studies for the benefit of the region. $3,502,627 of the total $18,975,323 was budgeted to the Valleywide REAP Program.

Fresno COG, on behalf of the eight counties, has submitted funding applications to the State Housing and Community Development (HCD) Department and has received the full program allocation of $18,975,323. Final funding totaling $4,378,246 was received from HCD in 2024. There were several revisions to the funding allocations approved by HCD in 2024 and are included the figures below.

The total budgeted REAP funding allocations for the San Joaquin Valley are as follows:

Fresno Council of Governments	$ 3,212,974
Kern Council of Governments	$ 2,050,570
Kings County Association of Governments	$ 686,462
Madera County Transportation Commission	$ 607,448
Merced County Association of Governments	$ 1,744,086
San Joaquin Council of Governments	$ 3,015,634
Stanislaus Council of Governments	$ 2,022,720
Tulare County Association of Governments	$ 2,132,803
Valleywide REAP Program	$ 3,502,627
Total	$18,975,323

The population pro-rata funding allocations shown above were agreed upon by the San Joaquin Valley REAP Committee for Housing at their first meeting in January 2020. The Valleywide funding allocation was based on the additional funding identified in AB 101 for regional collaboration.

The funding allocations shown above recognize the unique needs and challenges at the regional and subregional level. It allows for region wide collaboration while providing MPOs with the autonomy to establish subregional REAP policies.

One challenge that continues to hamper jurisdictional work efforts is the lack of planning staff at some of the smaller rural jurisdictions. We continue to work at the MPO level to identify those deficiencies and have provided meaningful and relevant technical assistance for these communities.

Another challenge involved the formation of the working group, the San Joaquin Valley REAP Committee for Housing. The AB 101 statute required that the working group be created through the city selection committee process at each county. That was problematic at some counties whose city selection committee did not meet regularly and or it was difficult to get the appointments on the agenda.

Of the total of $18,975,323 in REAP funding distributed by HCD to the San Joaquin Valley, approximately $6.3 million was spent on the Valleywide regional program, and at the subregional level for MPO staffing, project management, administration and RHNA planning efforts. Approximately $5.2 million was spent across four counties for multijurisdictional housing element efforts, and approximately $6.7 million was suballocated to jurisdictions.

The total budgeted allocations and expenditures, though calendar year 2024, for the San Joaquin Valley REAP program are shown below:

As shown above, there is $715,994 of remaining REAP funding through the end of 2024. Fresno COG, on behalf of the San Joaquin Valley MPOs, is in communication with HCD about this amount and is planning for additional eligible REAP expenditures in calendar year 2025. It is anticipated a supplemental 2025 Annual Report will identify the expenditures and activities for this remaining amount.

II. Project Highlights, Accomplishments and Best Practices

For calendar year 2024, the following activities have been accomplished on the regional, or valleywide level. Individual MPO activities and accomplishments are reviewed in the next section, Status of Activities.

Highlights and Accomplishments, Valleywide REAP Program https://sjvcogs.org/reap/

- SJV REAP Committee for Housing. The 24-member San Joaquin Valley REAP Committee on Housing (working group per AB 101) met a total of seven times during the life of the REAP program. The last meeting was held in February of 2023. Funding allocations, policy decisions and program updates were provided to the Committee at these meetings.
- Housing Element Data Sets that were produced for all 70 jurisdictions for their respective housing needs analysis for the sixth cycle housing elements. The data sets have been posted to the SJV REAP webpage: https://sjvcogs.org/sjvhousing-report/part-4-regional-data-sets/
- Comprehensive Housing Report for the San Joaquin Valley. The report highlighted existing conditions, barriers to housing production, best practices, and policy recommendations to further enhance housing planning and production. The report has been posted to the SJV REAP webpage: https://sjvcogs.org/sjv-housing-report/

Technical assistance consulting bench of seven consulting firms was established for ongoing technical assistance, and specified TA for affirmatively furthering fair housing. An on-line portal for jurisdictional TA request was made available on SJV REAP webpage: https://sivcogs.org/reap/reap-technical-assistance/. Assistance for accessory dwelling units and affirmatively furthering fair housing was the most common delivered support. During the life of the program, technical assistance was provided to the following 31 jurisdictions:

Arvin, McFarland, Atwater, Kingsburg, Bakersfield, Clovis, Stanislaus County, Hughson, Wasco, Stockton, Madera County, Madera, Merced County, Tulare County, Kings County, Selma, Lodi, Parlier, Porterville, Merced, Gustine, Dos Palos, Lemoore, Woodlake, Lindsay, Dinuba, Farmersville, Exeter, Los Banos and Taft.

- A Guide to Recent California Housing Laws and Policies Affecting Local Land-Use Planning was completed in July 2022. The comprehensive guide is posted to the SJV REAP webpage: https://sjvcogs.org/wp-content/uploads/2022/10/2022-10-14_SJV-Guide-Final_Updated.pdf
- Accessory Dwelling Unit Program for the San Joaquin Valley was completed in the fall of 2022 with ongoing technical assistance provided through 2024. This effort included the development of a comprehensive ADU guide, sample ordinances, housing plans, and collateral materials that any jurisdiction in the San Joaquin Valley can use to implement ADU programs. The ADU program guide and resources are posted to the SJV REAP webpage: https://sjvcogs.org/reap/adus/

- San Joaquin Valley Housing Capacity and Scenario Development and RHNA Insights GIS tool was completed in 2022 with ongoing utilization through 2024. The tool is available on Urban Footprint.
- Inclusionary Housing Study for the San Joaquin Valley was completed in 2023. The study analyzed the real estate economics of inclusionary programs in the San Joaquin Valley, using four Valley jurisdictions as case studies. The study described the pros and cons of inclusionary programs and offers recommendations for San Joaquin Valley jurisdictions. A webinar was held and the study is posted on the SJV REAP webpage: https://sivcogs.org/wp-content/uploads/2023/09/221064 SJV-Inclusionary Report 2023August7 Final.pdf
- Water Supply Study for the San Joaquin Valley was completed in 2023. The study analyzed the water supply systems and SGMA requirements versus housing demand and production needs for the eight-county region. The study provided a GIS analysis of the areas with greatest deficits in water supply and provided well researched water policy recommendations. A webinar was held, and the study is posted to the SJV REAP webpage: https://sjvcogs.org/wp-content/uploads/2024/04/22-13413-SJV-REAP_Final-01242443.pdf

- Condominium Housing Study for the San Joaquin Valley was completed in 2023. The study analyzed the lack of condominium construction in the San Joaquin Valley and provided land use and policy recommendations to facilitate more condo production, leading to more affordability, homeownership, wealth creation and density. A webinar was held and the study is posted to the SJV REAP webpage: https://sjvcogs.org/valleywide_activities/condo-construction-study/
- Small Lot Planning Study for the San Joaquin Valley was completed in 2024. The study explores the feasibility of small-lot housing in the region's eight counties. It aims to inform officials on its benefits and encourage local adoption to expand housing capacity, mobility, and choice. A webinar was held and the study is posted to the SJV REAP webpage: https://sivcogs.org/wp-content/uploads/2024/11/SJV-SLPS_Final_2024-11-05-RL-WS_web.pdf
- Residential Objective Design Standards, a Guidebook for the San Joaquin Valley was completed in 2024. The study is a tool for local planners in the San Joaquin Valley region as they consider the adoption of objective design standards in their community. Rather than a model set of standards, the guidebook includes best practice examples of objective design standards across a range of potential topics. A webinar was held and the study is posted to the SJV REAP webpage: https://sjvcogs.org/wp-content/uploads/2025/01/SJVREAP_ODS-Guidebook_Final-Draft_Combined-reduced.pdf

 Outreach to local jurisdictions and other partners about REAP planning efforts occurs on a regular basis. Every other month an electronic newsletter is disseminated to thousands of stakeholders in the San Joaquin Valley including community development staff at every jurisdiction. Monthly emails to community development staff also occurs.

 The San Joaquin Valley REAP Technical Advisory Committee (TAC) was established and is comprised of the MPO staff tasked with working on REAP. The TAC meets monthly and is responsible for collaboratively discussing REAP strategies and best practices among the MPOs.

Best Practices

- Conducting a Request for Qualifications (versus Request for Proposals) allowed for flexibility and efficiencies in contracting with consultants. This allowed us to establish a bench of shortlisted consultants, a bench that we could then issues scopes of works and request bids from as needed and as work efforts are identified. This saves time and resources in the public contracting process.
- Another best practice was the establishment of the San Joaquin Valley REAP Technical Advisory Committee (TAC). The TAC is comprised of staff from each SJV MPO and helps guide and advise the REAP process. This has allowed us to regionally reach consensus and move forward on technical or staff level decisions without having to seek approvals from the larger REAP Committee, which only meet twice a year.
- The Valleywide REAP program was the recipient of the Central California American Planning Association's 2023 Best Practices Award.
- The Valleywide REAP program was the recipient of the California Association of Council of Governments (CalCOG) 2025 Award of Excellence.
- The REAP Water Supply Study was the recipient of the 2024 San Joaquin Valley Blueprint award for a Planning Study.
- The REAP Small Lot Study was the recipient of the 2025 San Joaquin Valley Blueprint award for a Planning Study.

III. Status of Activities

The following activities are being reported on the subregional (MPO or COG) level through calendar year 2024.

Fresno Council of Governments (Fresno COG)

General Description: Funding Policies and Guidelines were approved by the Fresno Council of Governments Policy Board in January 2021. Major activities for Fresno COG include suballocations for individual jurisdictional housing planning activities and an allocation towards the development of a multi-jurisdictional housing element (MJHE).

Suballocation Methodology: Fresno COG has opted for a competitive process to allocate REAP funding to its jurisdictions. At least 50 percent of the funds will be set aside for small cities to ensure equity among jurisdictions.

Selective Project Highlights from Fresno COG

- Utilizing REAP funding, the City of Fresno identified and modified standards in the commercial and mixed-use zones to facilitate higher residential densities. One of the key changes was to remove the maximum residential. As part of this effort, the city created conceptual site plans to determine reasonable densities under these new form-based standards. The anticipated densities were significantly higher than previously allowed in the commercial and mixed-use zones.
- The City of Selma requested REAP funds to develop an online Selma GIS Development Portal (SGDP) to serve as an innovative digital planning tool to accelerate housing development in the City. The SGDP provides a comprehensive and interactive inventory of existing supportive infrastructure in the city. Map layers include parcels, zoning designation, special district boundaries, undeveloped residential lots, and election district boundaries.
- The City of Kerman proposed to update/develop the City's utility infrastructure master plans to ensure the City's New Growth Area's are adequately served and the infrastructure required to serve these New Growth Areas are as economically manageable as possible to encourage housing development. The city last updated its Infrastructure Master Plan in 2007.

Kern Council of Governments (Kern COG)

General Description: Kern COG's REAP funding and guidelines were approved by its Policy Board in April 2021. Kern COG utilized staffing and consulting for planning and coordination activities, while the majority of their funding was allocated to jurisdictions.

Selective Project Highlights from Kern COG

- The City of Bakersfield utilized REAP funding for its Housing Element update and updates to the zoning ordinance.
- The City of Ridgecrest updated the Housing Element and conducted a fair housing analysis and zoning GIS project. Standard plans for duplexes and ADUs to increase production for these types of housing choices were also developed.
- Kern County created digital aerial photography for the 2023 Kern County Aerial Imagery Update to provide imagery relevant to potential housing parcels throughout the county of Kern.

Kings County Association of Governments

General Description: KCAG's REAP Subcommittee approved its REAP funding policy in December 2021. KCAG utilized staffing and consulting for planning and coordination activities, while the majority of their funding was allocated to Kings County who is leading the Kings County Multi-Jurisdictional Housing Element process.

Suballocation Methodology: The KCAG member jurisdictions have agreed to direct the available REAP funds to the development of the Kings County Multi-Jurisdictional Housing Element Update.

MCTC pooled REAP funding for housing element update support and targeted AFFH technical assistance. This resulted in cost saving benefits for all member agencies. One consultant worked with all three local agencies, coordinating all the information, and timeline, thus ensuring project delivery for all.

Merced County Association of Governments (MCAG)

General Description: The MCAG Policy Board adopted a policy for REAP funding at their March 2021 meeting. MCAG utilized staffing and consulting for planning and coordination activities, while the remaining funding was allocated for a multijurisdictional housing element.

Suballocation Methodology: The MCAG Governing Board, at the recommendation of the REAP Technical Work Group comprised of each of the 7 jurisdictions in Merced County, determined the REAP 1 funds identified for suballocations to jurisdictions would produce a greater benefit to all if utilized on shared needs. Therefore, the funds earmarked for suballocation have been pooled by the jurisdictions to be used for regional efforts (i.e., MJHE). Local jurisdictions in Merced County will contribute approximately $500,000 towards the MJHE.

Selective Project Highlight from MCAG

The Merced County region utilized REAP funding for a multi-jurisdictional housing element (MJHE) for the sixth cycle housing element update. Jurisdictions participating in the joint effort were the County of Merced, and the cities of Atwater, Dos Palos, Gustine, Livingston, Los Banos, and Merced.

The Multijurisdictional Housing Element was the most significant REAP 1.0 project in the Merced County Region, marking the first time a collaborative approach to housing elements had been implemented in the area. While the exact cost savings for each jurisdiction are difficult to quantify, the project was expected to generate substantial cost efficiencies. More importantly, it encouraged participation from all jurisdictions, ensuring a unified regional effort. Given the high costs and complexity of developing sixth-cycle housing elements, some jurisdictions may not have pursued them independently or fully understood the time and resources required. This initiative provided a structured, relatively cost-effective approach, making it easier for all jurisdictions to meet state housing requirements.

The Merced County Association of Governments coordinated the effort. MCAG has maintained a website as the primary source for materials related to the Merced MJHE, including project documents, community workshop information, reports, and resources, and provide the community with ways to provide feedback on the project. https://mercedmjhe.com/

San Joaquin Council of Governments (SJ COG)

General Description: San Joaquin COG's Policy Board approved its REAP funding policy in February 2021. SJ COG utilized staffing and consulting for subregional project management, planning and coordination activities, while the remaining and majority of their funding was suballocated to jurisdictions.

Tulare County Association of Governments (TCAG)

General Description: TCAG's REAP funding and guidelines were adopted by their Policy Board in April 2021. TCAG utilized staffing and consulting for planning and coordination activities, while the remaining funding was allocated for a multijurisdictional housing element.

Suballocation Methodology: TCAG administered suballocations by formula. Each of its member agencies would receive a base of $100,000 with the remaining funds to be distributed proportionately based on population. Since this suballocation methodology was established in 2021, TCAG and its member agencies have instead opted for a multi-jurisdictional housing element utilizing all the suballocations amounts previously earmarked for cities, except for the City of Visalia and County of Tulare who are not participating in the multi-jurisdictional housing element.

Selective Project Highlight from TCAG

The Tulare County region utilized REAP funding for a multi-jurisdictional housing element (MJHE) for the sixth cycle housing element update. REAP funding also supported Housing Element updates separately for the County of Tulare and the City of Visalia. Having housing elements done for every community, allows each community to apply for grant funding for housing and pursue implementation of the housing plans. Actually, building housing is the most important thing as people can't live in plans. They need homes.
